Plan to Drain Pine Street At New Lenox

A program under which it is hoped that the surface water which now plagues residents on Second ave. and Pine street in New Lenox will be solved, is in the works for the coming year it was announced by Stanley Gilmore, the new village president.

Mayor Gilmore made the announcement at the first meeting of the new council held last week, at which he took office.

A plan with the same objective in view was brought up last year but had to be abandoned when the village was unable to obtain easements along the back of properties they had intended to run the line.

The new program calls for running a drain tile at the edge of Pine street, beginning at Second ave., and carrying it to a large tile that follows along U. S. 30 and finally crosses to empty into Hickory creek. This line will be for storm water only.

People in the vicinity of Second and Pine have been complaining about excess water for several years. They are bothered by sewage as well as surface water and while the proposed tile line may not eliminate the sewage problem it should improve conditions, it was pointed out.

Trustee Keith Hossack believes that if the storm water can be drained away the ground will dry out so that septic tanks will be able to function.

The village has $5,000 earmarked for this drainage program in the appropriation ordinance for the current year, and also plans to seek assistance from property owners benefited.

John Murphy, of 303 S. Pine street, and Ervin Roedel of 212 second ave., appeared before the board to complain about conditions in that area. They said there was a hole at the side of the intersection of Second and Pine approximately four feet deep that was filled with sewage and surface water. Two cars have had to be pulled out of it in the past two weeks, they said. The

Orland Park, Chicago Sanitary District Officials Attend Groundbreaking

Ground breaking ceremonies for the sewage treatment plant to be built by the Metropolitan Sanitary District of Greater Chicago to serve Orland Park were conducted Tuesday by officials of both bodies.

The ceremony was held at noon on the plant site at 147th and Holly Court, in Orland Hills Gardens. Refreshments were served to the crowd and at 2 o'clock some 200 persons were guests at a luncheon served at Silver Lake Golf club.

Col. Frank Chesrow, president of the Sanitary District board of trustees, and W. R. Schussler, Jr., mayor of Orland Park, each turned a shovel of dirt with a polished, beribboned shovel and now Paschen Co. of Chicago, that was awarded the contract, will proceed with the work.

Kenneth Halvorson, village clerk, served as master of ceremonies. The program began with a parade of the Colors by the Orland Park post of the American Legion, and an invocation by the Rev. Robert Plastow, pastor of the Orland Park Methodist church and department chaplain of the Legion.

Halvorson then gave a brief speech of welcome and introduced Mayor Schussler.

The mayor introduced the members of the village board and then after a short address presented Col. Chesrow to the audience. Chesrow then introduced his fellow trustees and other members of his official family.

A modern sewer system for Orland Park has been the aim of the village board for some time and with the beginning of work on the disposal plant officials believe the rest of the program is expected to have wholehearted support.

Subdivisions opened within or adjacent to the village must have sewer systems, complete with a disposal plant, installed by the developers, Orland Hills Gardens has sewers but the old portion of the village does not. To get sewers throughout the community is now the objective of the village board.

"As we celebrate the start of construction of the sewerage treatment plant that will serve our community," Mayor Schussler said in his speech at the groundbreaking, "I cannot help but feel that we are on the threshold of a new era of opportunity, growth and development."

A 16 page special sports magazine section is to be published in connection with this paper in the issue of May 28. It will contain pictures and stories giving a preview of the Indianapolis 500 mile classic in which Tony Bettenhausen, of Tinley Park, will rank as one of the favorites.

More Gas for Home Heating Due This Year

Most of the 60,000 persons still on the Northern Illinois Gas Co. waiting list for space heating probably will be able to have connections made in time for next winter, it was indicated yesterday when officials of the utility firm announced arrangements for delivery of a new supply of gas.

The federal power commission has granted Midwestern Gas Transmission Co. a permit to deliver 360 million cubic feet of gas a day to utility firms in the north. Northern Illinois Gas is to get 60 million cubic feet daily from this source which should be sufficient to take care of its waiting list, it was said.

Now that permission is granted it is expected that Midwestern will start work immediately on a pipeline extending from Tennessee to Joliet, Northern Illinois. Gas officials said that as soon as they are assured the line will be completed and additional gas will be available later this year, the company will begin granting connection permits to householders. It is only recently that the company issued some 41,000 such permits.

WLS to Broadcast Program by L-W School Chorus

Radio station WLS taped the Lincoln-Way high school chorus last Tuesday for radio programming over its 43 station network throughout Illinois.

William Allen, public relations representative for the state arm bureau, stated that Lincoln-Way was chosen because of its "superior" ranking in the state music contest held at Augustana college earlier this year. The Farm Bureau was seeking a school with a large section of the student body representing farm families and listed among the top vocal ratings in the state.

Tom D. Olson, vocal instructor at Lincoln-Way, directed the three choruses, mixed chorus, girls chorus and boys chorus, thru the program. The schedule of time and station will be announced by WLS at a later date.

Another school in the southern section of Illinois has been chosen to be used in cooperation with the Lincoln-Way group. This is the first time that Lincoln-Way has been chosen for this honor.

The school children will reassemble for the presentation of school medals and essay awards.

Appreciation

Frankfort Church Issues Citations

Certificates of Appreciation were presented to members of the building committee of the Frankfort Methodist church at the Fourth quarterly conference held there last week. The certificates were presented by the Rev. Ben Day, pastor of the church, as "a more tangible expression of appreciation than we often render for works of love."

The Quarterly Conference marked completion of the first full year in a new $210,000 edifice. The committee, which was recently dissolved, headed the planning, construction and financing of the new building over a period of some three years. Certificates were presented to Dr. Claude W. Otto, Wendell W. Morrison, Ralph D. Dralle, and posthumously to Arthur C. Mark Sr. Other members of the committee to receive certificates but who were not present at the conference are Henry Mark and Arthur C. Bauch, who served as chairman.

The certificates read "In Appreciation of Faithful Service as Building Committee Member this Certificate is awarded by the Frankfort Methodist Church." Each document bears the name of the committee member and was signed by the pastor and Dr. R. Merrill Powers, district superintendent.

The quarterly conference was conducted by Dr. Powers who is superintendent of the Joliet Dixon district of the Rock River annual conference. Reports of accomplishments of the year and plans for the future were received from the various officers and organizations of the church. A new slate of officers, commission and committee members was elected for the ensuing year.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Ben Day and a time of fellowship was enjoyed following the conference session.

L-W Bond Sale

Will Open Bids at 8:00 Tonight

The Lincoln-Way high school board will take bids tonight on a $500,000 bond issue for a new addition to the plant.

Representatives of numerous bond houses are expected to appear at the meeting. The bids will be sealed and while they can be mailed to the board it is expected that most of them will be submitted by the bond men in person.

The public is welcome to attend tonight's meeting, as it is any meeting of the high school board. According to the specifications the bids must be delivered to the secretary of the board by 8 o'clock.

A week from tonight, the board will open bids from contractors. The board hopes to have construction begin early in June.

Approximately a dozen general contractors have taken out plans and specifications on the addition and several sub-contractors have also taken them out.

Lincoln-Way is crowded now and the school population will be greater next fall. It is the hope of the board that at least a part of the addition — devoted to classrooms — will be ready by mid-year.

It is believed there will be a considerable number of bidders on the bonds tonight. Lincoln-Way issues now on the market are reported to be bringing premiums.

The last parcel of bonds sold by the district — $180,000 worth — commanded a low interest rate for the time and size of the issue. The interest on those bonds is 3.68 percent. Some school bonds at that time carried interest in excess of 4 percent.

The district is in good shape financially and the bonds to be offered tonight should find a ready sale, it was said.

Besides classrooms the addition will include a music room, toilet facilities, basement storage, a large multipurpose room, enlargement of the boys and girls locker rooms and more shop facilities.

Wonderful Experience

Foreign Student Lauds Exchange Program

By ANNE RODGER

Ella Juul Jensen is going home to Denmark and resume her studies after spending a full year at Lincoln-Way high school.

One of 1100 students from 36 foreign countries who have been attending American schools thru the foreign student exchange program, Ella left her native town of Soroe, 35 miles southwest of Copenhagen, last August by plane. She expects to make the return trip via ocean liner, leaving Montreal, Canada July 28.

Ella, who regrets leaving the United States just as she is becoming adjusted to Americans and their way of life, hopes to return some day.

While attending an American high school, the 18 year old Scandinavian, will have to begin where she left off at the junior college, called "Gymnasium" in Denmark. Some of her fellow students there voiced the opinion they would not care to do that, but Ella excitedly states she would gladly have given up ten years for her experience in an American school. She has another year of junior college, when she returns, then plans to enter a university.

Denmark is a very modern country, she advised, when asked how schools here compare with those in Denmark, but the educational system is much different.

In Denmark, school begins for students at the age of seven, when they enter what she terms, "under school", comparable to American grade schools. After five years, students take an examination and if they pass, are promoted to "middle school" comparable to American high schools. A total of eight years' education is required by law. Few students quit school after this period however, because of the difficulty in finding employment.

The competition for jobs in a country which has more population per area than in America, makes more education mandatory. The majority of students, according to Ella, attend junior college where the curriculum is for three years.

All of the subjects in the four-year middle school are required and students have no choice, she explained.

Foreign languages are stressed in Denmark schools. In the first year of middle school, students learn English, the second year German is added, and the third year, Swedish. In the fourth year, students may study either French or Latin, but if they plan entering a university, Latin is a must.

Ella plans to become a foreign language teacher, perhaps French or German, but not in Denmark. She would like to teach in another foreign country.

In Denmark, the young Scandinavian student explained, classes are geared to the students with the highest I. Q. Those who cannot keep up with the studies are held back for a year. She is amazed that American high school students pass even though flunking one subject. That would never happen in Denmark.

She thinks foreign students are much more serious about their studies than most American youngsters. Discipline in the Denmark schools is much stricter, she added. Danish schools also have a much more accelerated physical education program for girls than in American schools. They participate in several sports and do a great deal of calisthenics.

Because Lincoln-Way High school has participated in the foreign student exchange program, a student from that school, Kay Gersich, will attend some foreign school this summer. Ella hopes it will be in Denmark.

While foreign students attend American schools for a full semester, American students attend only summer sessions in foreign schools and the majority of them go to Germany.

The 18-year old Scandinavian teenager is eagerly looking forward to the sea voyage on the liner which will return her to Denmark. She will embark at Rotterdam Aug. 6. Home only a few days, she will return to school Aug. 16. The summer school vacation in Denmark is for six weeks.

When the senior class at Lincoln-Way high school receive their diplomas at graduation exercises, a special diploma will be presented to Miss Jensen.

When she first arrived here she lived in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Norvin Foster in Frankfort until they moved to California. Mrs. Foster was a home economics teacher at Lincoln-Way. Since that time Ella has been living in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Berlin in New Lenox.

American students who attend foreign schools must live in homes where some member of the family speaks English.

An attractive, exuberant, healthy teenager, Ella worries only about growing old. Seventeen she said, was a wonderful year, but to attain the ripe old age of 18 years, makes one feel the years are slipping by too fast.

Before leaving America, Ella will join other area foreign students, 68 in all, for a tour of several states in two buses, including Tennessee, Georgia, North Carolina and Washington, D. C., where they will join the remaining foreign students now in America and will be addressed by President Eisenhower. The group will then visit New York for four days before embarking by plane and sea for their homelands.

Adopt Building Code at N. Lenox

An ordinance was adopted by the village board of New Lenox last week which incorporates a new building code which has been on public inspection for more than 30 days.

The code is lengthy and runs to thousands of lines. It is so bulky that the law does not require its publication. There are copies available, however, that may be viewed by persons affected.

A board will be set up to administer the provisions of the code. Mayor Stanley Gilmore said the board would be appointed soon.

In the meantime the mayor, with the assistance of Trustees Evans, Drotts and Keith Hossack, would prepare a leaflet, containing salient points of the building code and other village measures that have to do with construction, and have them given out with each building permit issued.

Hossack, who has charge of streets, said that while an

Wood Urges People to Take More Responsibility in Government

Responsibility and interest in government on local, county and national levels is necessary if our present form of government is to survive, State Representative Warren L. Wood, of Plainfield, warned the Mokena Lions club at its regular dinner meeting last Thursday night at Valley View Farm. Wood was formerly speaker of the Illinois House.

"The state appropriations could be cut substantially if we were to do away with frills and various groups and individuals trim their demands for aid of their pet projects," Mr. Wood said.

"People complain of the cost of government and want taxes cut. At the same time they urge larger expenditures on the programs in which they are interested. You can't ride in the wagon and push at the same time."

There are a lot of needless frills in public buildings, Wood pointed out, and frills cost money.

He also pointed out that big government costs money and the current trend is toward central rule under bureaucrats.

"Too many of us are dodging our responsibilities," he declared. "We have a big stake in this government of ours and we are in danger of letting it go by the board unless we accept the fact that we are responsible. If we have poor officials remember they didn't elect themselves."

He pointed out that too many people were trying to get something for nothing and reminded his hearers that there is always a price tag. It may be hidden, he said, but the tag is there.

Hold Post Prom Dance Saturday At Lincoln-Way

An opportunity to view the efforts put forth by the junior class at Lincoln-Way high school for the junior-senior prom in beautifying the school with decorations for the occasion, will be afforded parents and friends at a post prom dance being held at the school Saturday, May 16. It is being sponsored by the Parent-Teacher group. A good orchestra has been engaged which will enhance the theme of the dance, "Diamond Mist." Dancing will be from 9 to 12 p.m.

The Bobzin-Swinford Post 1088, American Legion, Frankfort, will hold the 13th annual Memorial dance in Saenger hall, Tinley Park on Friday, May 29 from 9 to 1 p.m.

The Post has assembled a program and parade for Memorial Day, Saturday, May 30. Starting at 10 a.m. the parade consisting of village officials, Post and Corps Auxiliary, grade school band and school children will leave the school grounds.

At 10:20 a.m. a program will be held at the village hall where a wreath will be presented. At 11 a.m. the parade will end at the cemetery where an

Mokena Youth Wins Scholarship To Northwestern

A Mokena youth, a student at Joliet Junior college, has been awarded a full tuition scholarship by Northwestern university at Evanston.

The young man is Ronald Knakmuhs, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Knakmuhs, 127 S. Mokena st. He is a graduate of Lincoln-Way High school and will graduate from the junior college this June. He was attending the college on a scholarship which was offered in part by the Joliet Federal Savings and Loan association.

The Northwestern University scholarship grant covers a tuition for the academic year 1959-60 and is renewable yearly. It is awarded on the basis of academic record, leadership qualities, need and expected contribution to Northwestern university.

While in Lincoln-Way high school Ronald was editor for one term of The Reporter, a school newspaper of Illinois Associations of Student Councils.

While in Joliet junior college he has been most active, serving as president of the student council for two successive terms. He also has been active in the Press club, the Business Students and Future Teachers. He was co-editor this year of the college yearbook, The Shield.

He expects to enter the School of Business at Northwestern and his aim is to be a certified public accountant.

Grade School Students Plan Spring Concert

The Girls' Chorus of Mokena grade school will present its annual spring concert Sunday, May 17 at 3 p.m.

The chorus, under the direction of Mrs. Jeanne Clark, has 40 members representing the fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth grades.

They will be assisted by the Boys' chorus, a newly formed group, who will perform and also join the girls as a combined chorus for the final section of the program.

A Girls' ensemble will participate in the program. Members include Nancy Behn, Tarrie Hearn, Nancy Porick, first soprano; Diane Muehler, Cindy Lou Robinson, second soprano; Carol Ann Chisholm, Barbara Hanson, Susan Soderburg, altos. They will be accompanied by Jane Swanberg.

This year marks the final performance of Wayne Swanberg as accompanist for the chorus since he will be graduating. He has done an admirable job and all wish him well in his high school work.

L-W Musicians Will Present Spring Concert

The Lincoln-Way Music department, under the direction of Tom D. Olson and Robert C. Taylor, will present its annual spring concert Wednesday, May 20, at 8 p.m. in the high school auditorium.

Besides the instrumental portion presented by the band, the program will include selections used by the three Lincoln-Way choruses that earned them superior ratings in the recent state music contest.

Featured on the concert will be several senior soloists in both instrumental and vocal selections, ensembles that have outstanding contest records, and a variety of program numbers by the various groups.

Seniors in the department will be introduced and honored during the evening, and the concert will be brought to a fitting climax through the playing and singing of "America, Our Heritage," by the combined groups.

Tickets for this, the outstanding program of the year by the Lincoln-Way Music department, may be obtained from any band or chorus student.

PLAN TO DRAIN—

two men, both fathers, were afraid they said that some of the children in the neighborhood may drown unless the situation is remedied.

Mayor Gilmore said that a board of local improvements has been created which will handle the proposed drainage deal for Pine street and that the persons effected will be asked to aid in financing the program.

He also said that when the drain tile is installed tests will be made from time to time and if sewage appears it will be traced and drains from offending households will be blocked off.

Charles Casebeer, of 169 Forest, who appeared before the board six months ago to complain that householders on Wood street were sending sewerage on his property, had another audience last week. He said that the nuisance still existed. Casebeer also is troubled by surface water. But he said it was the sewerage that was the real problem.

According to information obtained by the board some residents along Wood had covered over a tile that was supposed to carry off storm water and it is suspected that they have hooked their septic tanks to this drain.

Clerk Robert McCleary was instructed to write notices and have them delivered to persons in the area to the effect that tests would be made to determine the source of pollution of the drain.

In response to a question by Village Attorney William Penn Casebeer said he would be willing to sign a warrant against persons found to be polluting the drainage. Penn suggested that such offenders be arrested and if found guilty to be fined from $10 to $100 a day for each day the offense continues.

NOTICE

My telephone number has been changed to Frankfort 5479. Art Geuther, Frankfort.

Hossack the council agreed to give the alleged violators of the health ordinance 20 days in which to correct conditions. After that they will be subject to prosecution.

The village attorney said that from the authorities he had read any effluent from a septic tank makes for pollution.

Engineers say there is not supposed to be any carry off from a septic tank that escapes into a stream or emerges in a ditch or open ground. The water is supposed to be absorbed in the ground on the lot served.

They point out that septic tanks and fields established in a clay or hardpan area, such as exists in this locality, will not function properly because the soil will not absorb the water and therefore, septic tanks should not be permitted. Sewers and a sewage treatment works is the only satisfactory way of disposing of sanitary waste, they declare.

ORLAND PARK, CHICAGO—

"All of us have seen what has been happening to the area around us—seen how new housing, how new and attractive industrial sites have developed," he went on. "Every day large numbers of families are moving out of Chicago to take advantage of suburban living, and with the development of the St. Lawrence Seaway and the Cal-Sag channel, the building boom will continue for years to come. As an example we know that in the nearby community of Oak Forest with the prospect of a sanitary sewer system, there are some 1500 to 1600 new homes proposed for construction. We in Orland Park have also grown. In 1950 our population was officially 788, today we estimate our population close to 2500 persons. This is an increase of over 300% in nine years.

"As we grow in size our problems grow with us," the mayor continued. "Safeguarding the public health and property is foremost in my mind. We must insure ourselves that we have an ample supply of water for residential use and fire fighting purposes. Our water system must serve all areas of our community. Our wells must be productive to guarantee an ample supply of water, our pumps must maintain pressure and our distribution system must be of ample size to guarantee a supply of water at all points of our system for present and future residents.

Approximately two years ago our community voted this area into the Metropolitan Sanitary District of Greater Chicago giving your village officials an opportunity to expand on proposed plans for sewage disposal.

"Sanitary sewers in a community of our size is a must. We can no longer rely on individual septic tanks for disposal of human wastes. "Our sewage treatment plant is being constructed by the Metropolitan Sanitary District of Greater Chicago. Therefore, it is now up to us to develop a system of collecting sewers within the village that will outfall into the treatment plant.

"The Sanitary District's function is only the treatment of wastes and not the construction of a collecting and transmission system. This is always the local community's responsibility.

"Ninety nine per cent of the local sanitary sewer systems throughout the state are financed by a bond issue or issues," the Mayor explained. "General tax bonds may be issued in an amount that does not exceed 5% of the total assessed valuation of our village. Last

Held Doughnut Day In Orland June 12

An official permit to hold "Doughnut Day" in Orland Park Friday, June 12, has been granted to the Salvation Army.

Clerk Kenneth A. Halvorson has notified "Doughnut Day" headquarters of the approval, report Mrs. G. Reed Basinger of Oak Park, suburban area chairman, and Mrs. Earl O. Ehrhardt of Elmhurst, co-chairman.

On Doughnut Day local residents serving as volunteer taggers will sell the little doughnut-shaped tags that have become familiar symbols of the Salvation Army's help for the distressed. Orland Park will be one of nearly 150 suburban communities in Cook, DuPage, Kane, Lake, McHenry, Will and Lake (Indiana) counties that will observe Doughnut Day simultaneously with Chicago.

year's assessed valuation was $2,235,095 with the prospect of a $3,000,000 valuation for the current tax year. With a $3,000,000 assessed value we have the ability to issue up to $150,000 in tax bonds to pay a part of the cost of construction of our sanitary sewer system. The balance of the cost would be paid by an issue of revenue bonds. Revenue bonds are paid, both principal and interest, by monthly or quarterly charges to the users of the system.

The general obligation tax bonds are paid by taxes as is the case when our school districts issue their school building bonds. Special assessment bonds may also be issued to pay the cost of constructing a sanitary sewer system. Other means of finance will also be considered.

"We in Orland Park must take advantage of the opportunities around us. We must provide all the modern conveniences such as a public water and sewer system that are expected from a progressive community. We have the water system and now the sewage treatment plant is the start of our sewer system. We will continue in our efforts to develop a public sewer system for our village. Our goal is to make Orland Park one of the most attractive residential communities in south Cook County."

Officials of the Sanitary District present were Casimir Griglik, vice president; Walter S. Baltis, John A. Cullerton, Vincent D. Garritz, John G. Henneberger, William A. Patterson and Christopher C. Wimbish, trustees; William A. Dundas, general superintendent and Burton A. Scheidt, chief engineer.

All of the Orland Park trustees were on hand: Bretland A. Blair, chairman of the committee on arrangements; Melvin Doogan, Lloyd Cowan, Joseph Lebens, Ike Cleveland and George Granat. Also from the village official family were Raymond Pieper, village attorney; Franklin Loebe, village treasurer; Robert Miller, building commissioner; Orville Schmaedeke, chairman of the planning commission, Charles Cooper, a member of that body; Police Chief Eugene Yunker, Fire Chief Arthur Granat.

Also attending were Fred E. Yunker, supervisor; Ralph Agate, town clerk; Otto Schilling, assessor; Margaret Loebe, collector; Carl Borset, highway commissioner; Roy Benson, justice of the peace; Geo. A. Flondor, justice of the peace, and Herbert Lucas, constable.

Various organizations in the community were represented. Also present were Jake and Henry Paschen of the construction firm building the plant and various engineers and builders.

At present there are 12,200 feet of sewer mains installed in Orland Hills Gardens and the amount will be doubled by the time the other units are completed. It is estimated at approximately 25,000 feet of sewer mains that will be required to serve the remainder of the village.

In making the announcement, Commander Zugenbuehler said, "I am extremely grateful that the wonderful ladies of our Auxiliary are once again going to work with us in the sale of Buddy Poppies. I know that without their support it would be difficult for our post to stage a successful campaign.

"Mrs. Olive Williams, chairman of the Poppy Day sales, has accepted the responsibility of getting sellers on the street. She plans to recruit help from all groups within our community, and it is my sincere hope that she will get the cooperation of all organizations.

"I feel certain that the citizens of Mokena recognize that all of us have an obligation to those men who are still suffering in Veterans Administration hospitals and even here in our community. All of the money raised will go to

SWS Track and Field Meet Set for May 20

Bremen is Co-favorite With Oak Lawn to Cop Varsity Title

By Dean Dallas, Sports Editor
Wednesday, May 20 is the day the thin clads of the SW Suburban will put on their annual circus at Evergreen Park.

Last Saturday, Bloom made shambles of the best in the district meet, but the Chicago Heights team will probably make trouble for everyone in the state.

Bremen is the good team from this southern section of the SWS. Bremen has beaten all of the contenders in the dual meets this season, but there will be differences on a conference level.

However, the Braves must rule as favorites on the strength of its dual meet conquests.

Oak Lawn is the team to stop for second place. Carl Sandburg should come out of it with a third or fourth place finish. The Eagles of Adams are rather good on the track but lack needed strength in the field events.

Lincoln-Way high school may do well in the distance efforts but don't promise much strength elsewhere. Paul LaVinn's boys may have a few surprises for the SWS.

Sandburg is a solid favorite in the frosh-soph meet. The young men from the bluff have not been given any kind of trouble by the opposition. In fact, in many cases they have outdone their varsity buddies.

Powerful Rich will not be strong this year. They've been on the top in the past, but are not counted on to generate much excitement outside of Park Forest.

Joliet Catholic High Wins Golf Meet at Orland; Eagles Fourth

Joliet Catholic, defending state golf champion, began a successful quest for a second crown, by winning the Carl Sandburg sectional with an excellent 291 score.

Sandburg finished 4th and thus qualifies to compete in the state finals in a few weeks. The Eagles finished in a tie for 4th with Thornton township.

Joliet township was second with a 300 score for its top four golfers.

Kankakee and Bloom tied for third place with a score of 306.

Sandburg's score was 308. Brietharth was the top Eagle finisher with a 74 over the 18 holes. Tom Cripps had a 75 and Tom Schriber, regular season sensation, finished third for his team with a 76.

Frank Mores of J. C. was the medalist for the district with a scorching 71. Second place went to teammate Jack Nevin with a 72.

Carl Sandburg: 308.
Schriber 37-39-76
Cripps 36-39-75
Johnson 48-44-92
McBride 40-45-85
Brietharth 36-38-74

Glonek 42-46-88

Sellery After 1st Feature Win Of Midget Year

George Sellery veteran driver and leading contender, will be shooting for his first feature victory Saturday night in the midget auto races at Joliet Memorial stadium.

The Chicago pilot, who won the track championship in 1957, finished second behind Streator ace Bob Tattersall last weekend. Tattersall is the defending titlist and is off to a fast start this season.

Braves in District Baseball Finals

Bremen high school baseball team beat Blue Island 6 to 4 in an Illinois district tournament game on Tuesday evening at Blue Island. A win over Thornton would advance the Braves to a game against the winner of the Reavis district tourney. Eventually a state winner will be determined. Thornton got into the district title contest thru victory over Morgan Park academy.

Browsing Through The Cold Stove League

The Indianapolis 500 is on the sports docket within a few weeks. Tony Bettenhausen, local favorite, will be on the track for his 12th try. This might be the year of charm for the cocky Tinley Parker.

Tony feels that this will be the year. His last effort was a win in the 100-mile feature at Trenton, N.J. This is the first substantial effort in Tony's quest for a third national championship. He currently ranks third in those standings.

Jim Rathmann, winner of the Monza and the Daytona, national opener, is another favorite in the 500. Rathmann ran fourth to Tony at Trenton. A young man by the name of Ward is a comer—he has placed second at both Daytona and Trenton. He is driving the car with which Rathmann won the Monza.

There are a few other big names in the race, but from where it looks from this vantage point these three men will be battling each other at Indianapolis as they have done in the spring.

Tony will go into the "500" with the recent Trenton win and this should give some edge. Furthermore, Tony wants to win this year. He has won about everything else in the midgits and the big cars—but the "500" has been the will-o-the-wisp. It has often been close, but ah! so far.

We are looking for a battle between Tony and Jim Rathmann. If Tony can get away to a fast start and his car holds—you can see them at it and you will see them battling. Bettenhausen and Rathmann.

The special sports magazine which will appear in the May 28th copy of the Semmler papers will carry a considerable amount of preview on the "500."

Carl Sandburg's golf team has been a consistent SWS winner over the last four years. Last week-end they finished fourth in the toughest district assignment in the state. Defending state champion Joliet Catholic is in this district.

They are a cinch to repeat as the SWS champs once again this year. Rich hasn't been able to make any sort of inroad on this monopoly.

For their fine showing last week-end at Glen Eagles, the Eagle golfers will get a journey to the state meet.

Wednesday is the SWS conference track meet. Again all of the—I'm not a gambler—go on the line. A battle between the hard running Redmen of Midlothian and the tough Spartans of Oak Lawn should provide quite a show for the fans.

The militant spirit of the Spartans is something to beat. The Braves have the "shank's mares" to do it and we are predicting that they will. Oak Lawn will finish in a second spot and then you can look for Sandburg and Evergreen Park. This is a tossup for third place.

The Orland Park outfit should be a shoo-in on the frosh-soph level in the meet. They have not been pushed in regular dual meets over the regular season. Wasick, Graefen and company should continue unbeaten.

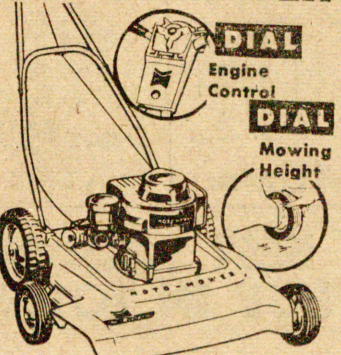

You know—don't gripe about your sports phonycaster. Oak Lawn is just about in the driver's seat in the SWS. Yes, they play Rich, but the game is up at the Spartan battle field. Few escape from the Spartan grounds without plenty of scars and lumps. Cheerio.

Ettenhausen Story

No. 99 Winner in the 500 But That Time Tony Wasn't at Wheel

By DEAN DALLAS
(Note: Bettenhausen raced in the '48 "500," but did not race in 1949. The paper stated that he did not race in 1948.)

Number 99 was a winner. The car was powered with a midget engine—about half the size of the cars with which it competed. However, in six tries the "blond charger" drove it home to victory twice.

In 1950 Tony was under contract to Lou Moore to drive the car that had won for Mauri Rose in 1947 and 1948. Things had not changed. Was it fate? Probably not.

After starting in 12th place, Bettenhausen came on. He was running 10th. Then 8th. Then 3rd. But only 3 seconds behind Johnnie Parsons, 200 miles left in the race. Still running third. Still three seconds behind.

It happened. This time it was a right front wheel bearing that burned out. The race was over for Tony. Oh! he drove relief for Joe Chitwood and that car finished 5th.

Parsons won the only abbreviated race in the "500" history. Total distance was 345 miles.

Tony then hit the dirt track circuit.

No. 99 was purchased by Belanger of Crown Point, Ind. Tony won plenty in the fall in 99. However, he didn't want to take Belanger's baby to the "500".

So he drove for Lou Moore again in the same car. He was running 5th. Bettenhausen was driving hard to catch up with the leaders and following Mike Nazurah. Nazurah ran out of gas right in front of Tony. Bettenhausen clamped down on the brakes, but the front wheel drive wouldn't take the jolt and he spun out of the race on the northwest turn at the 451 mile mark.

Irony. Fate's laughter. Lee Wallard drove No. 99 and won the 1951 Indianapolis.

Tony was back in Belanger's car and began to show the opposition shiny metal.

On the national circuit he won the first two outings. He shot home first in the 100-mile at Milwaukee in June and then ran them off the track at Langhorne, Pa.

At Darlington, S.C. he finished second. Back home to Illinois and at Springfield it was three out of four for Tony and 99.

At Duquoin, Ia. he made them scream with delight as he charged thru the 100 and 200 mile tests with victories over all comers.

Tony never escaped bad "luck." At Syracuse he won again, but this was the end to what could have been the most fantastic record in rubber-tired history.

With two breaks—Bettenhausen could have won all but one race on the National tracks that summer. As it was he set a new record for total points amassed.

At Detroit he was away out front when his car ran out of gas. The gas gauge had gone out. So he finished 4th. At Denver—he won in a breeze.

At Phoenix—running on lap-99 he was out front by at least a half-lap, when the front tire blew out and locked up the spot brakes, stalling the car instantly.

At San Mateo, Calif. he led the race for 132 miles when a tire wore out and he then finished second to John Parsons.

Fantastic, anyway! The new record for points in a season was 2,556. Also, he set a record for winning feature races on the National type car. Tony and number 99 were winners.

NEXT WEEK: No story! Watch the special sports magazine of the Semmler Press for the final installment and features on the "500."

CSHS Athletes Get Awards at Honors Dinner

At a special athletic honors banquet at the Southmoor Country club recently, three top athletic awards were given to Carl Sandburg high school athletes.

Winner of the Athletic-Scholastic award was Ford Scholastic student Eric Johansen, the number two ranking student in the senior class. Johansen has compiled a 3.91 average in four years, just below the straight "A."

As a halfback, Johansen won two varsity letters and a sophomore award. He also earned two baseball letters and a track award. Boys State, Math club, Student Council, Honors society, are among Johansen's other activities.

Reed Williams was given the "most valuable" athlete award for 1958-59 on the basis of his fine performances in cross-country and track. Members of the letterman's club voted Reed as the top senior athlete.

Williams has proven himself a very capable student as well, given many hours of his out-of-school time to science projects which have won him top State recognition.

Dick Barry, a junior, was given the free throw award for the past year's basketball season. Barry is expected to be one of Sandburg's top court performers next year.

Oh No! Not A State Income Tax!

An attempt to fasten a state income tax on the people of Illinois has been launched in the general assembly but the measure is so unpopular that if it should be submitted to the voters in a referendum it is practically certain of defeat.

In the past several attempts have been made to amend the revenue article of the state constitution but each time the amendment has been defeated because the people feared that under its provisions they would become saddled with an income tax.

Proponents of a state income tax say that it would be a flat rate and would be a substitute for the personal property tax.

That, friends, is a lot of hogwash. Once an income tax law is enacted, the only thing certain about it is that it would never be repealed. It probably would be changed from time to time so that in the end it would be a graduated tax with the sky the limit, as is the case with the federal income tax.

When the federal measure was made into law a few far-sighted members of congress wanted to put a constitutional limit of 10 per cent on the measure. They were laughed to scorn. Ten per cent? Why, if congress ever tried to assess the public with a 10 per cent income tax the people would revolt, the scoffers declared.

The federal income tax on the little people is now over 20 per cent and rises to 90 per cent on the big incomes and besides that the government has piled up a multitude of other taxes so that everyone carries a burden.

Governments are always so in need of money that once a tax in enacted that is productive of revenue it is never repealed. So when proponents of a state income tax say that it will relieve some of the other taxes, a liberal portion of salt is indicated.

It had been stated in public prints that Gov. Stratton was in favor of a state income tax. Dispatches from Springfield this week, declare, however, that the governor has called for an outright ban on any form of state income tax. He is said to have given his support to a measure introduced by Reps. Warren L. Wood of Plainfield, former speaker of the House and William E. Pollack, Chicago the governor's spokesman in the House, to amend the constitution's revenue article to prohibit a state or city income tax.

The senate has an amendment drawn which would permit a flat, or non-graduated income tax. The Illinois Manufacturers Association, which was listed among organizations in favor of an income tax, has sent out a publicity release stating that it "will oppose income taxes of any kind, shape or form."

In the same release it states the IMA believes that the Senate measure, which provides for a flat income tax "constitutes a protection against income taxes."

Just how passage of an income tax law prevents passage of an income tax law has us stumped. It would seem to us that the only way for the general assembly to resolve the problem is to have the article ban any form of state income tax in words that are clear, to the point, and cannot be twisted or interpreted to allow any other meaning than NO INCOME TAX.

It would be well if every citizen opposed to a state income tax would take the few minutes necessary to sit down and write their state representatives and senators to that effect. If they do not hear from you they can be excused if they consider your silence as acquiescence in the scheme to foist such a tax upon the people of Illinois.

(The state representatives of persons living in Will county are Warren L. Wood, Plainfield; Louis F. Bottino, Lockport, and Francis J. Loughran, 25 N. Ottawa st., Joliet. The state senator is Lottie Holman O'Neill, of Downers Grove. State representatives of persons residing in Tinley Park and Orland Park are Terrel E. Clarke, 4065 Garden ave., Western Springs; Harold A. Hoover, 8516 W. 122nd pl., Palos Park; Francis X. Downey, 5085 Lamb dr., Oak Lawn. The state senator is Frank M. Ozinga, 9626 S. Homan ave. Evergreen Park.)

DENTAL HEALTH

In civilized man, the toothbrush does for the teeth what raw, coarse and detergent foods did for the teeth of primitive man.

It washes away the soil in which the little acid-producing bacteria of the mouth thrive.

It stimulates the gums into a more rapid blood flow, thus removing waste products and enhancing the resistance to infection.

The toothbrush helps promote clean, healthy teeth, dentists emphasize.

They point out there are three conditions that must come together in the mouth before decay is produced. These include bacteria, easily fermentable foods like sugars and starches, and a hideout that is undetected long enough for the bacteria to work on the food and build up acid of sufficient strength to attack the tooth enamel.

The duty of the toothbrush is to interrupt these conditions by interrupting acid formation so that there is never a sufficient buildup for an attack.

Another function of the toothbrush is to prevent deposits of debris, known as tartar or calculus. For some 24 hours, the deposits remain soft enough to be removed by the brush. But afterward, they become hardened to the extent that a dentist's steel instrument is necessary to scrape them off.

If tartar is left to accumulate, the gum tissue becomes irritated. This can lead to disturbances in the gums and the supporting tooth structure. The toothbrush also helps to keep the teeth clean and the gums in a healthy condition.

Sometimes gums will bleed because of the brushing. Dentists say there is no harm if it continues only a few days. The tissue cells covering the gums become toughened, like a hand doing hard labor. If, however, the bleeding persists the condition should be checked by a dentist.

NEXT WEEK: How to brush your teeth.

The Federal Government collected $540 million in excise taxes in 1929, and almost $11 billion in 1958.

Andrew Corp. Aids Orland Fire House Fund Drive

Orland Park volunteer firemen have officially opened their drive for funds with which to build new quarters to house their equipment and the campaign has been given impetus thru a substantial donation by the Andrew Corporation.

The Andrew Corporation, which manufactures various types of antennas, has its plant at Orland Park. In a letter made public Tuesday, the company praised the fire department for its work in the past and stated that the Andrew Corporation—as any other property owner in the community—was eager to aid the firemen in any program that will make for better protection.

A new fire house is needed now and to aid the firemen in getting the funds to build one the company was enclosing its check. The check was for $1,000.

Essay Writers Can Win Trips To Church Camp

Two camperships will be awarded May 27 by the commission on education of the Frankfort Methodist church, according to Mrs. Robert Erdmann, commission chairman.

The camperships will consist of full registration costs at the Rock River Methodist Youth camp of the winners' choice. One award will be made to a junior camp for those now in third thru fifth grades. A second award will go to an intermediate camp for those currently in sixth thru eighth grades.

Children enrolled in the third thru eighth grades of the Frankfort Methodist church school are eligible to enter the award contest.

The camperships will be awarded on the basis of an essay of 100 words or less on the theme, "Why I Want to Win a Camp Scholarship." The essay must be submitted no later than May 24 to the pupil's Sunday school teacher or to the church office. The entrant's name should not appear on the essay proper but only on a separate sheet attached to the front of the entry. The essays will be judged May 27 by the commission on education and winners will be immediately notified. The decision of the judges is final.

If a winner is pre-registered at one of the youth camps his pre-registration fee will be refunded by the commission. All children interested in camping are urged to pre-register now before camp quotas are filled.

On Second Thot

by Glenn F. Logan

In the course of a conversation with a friend the other day the name of a mutual acquaintance came up.

"Now there's a man," my friend said admiringly, "who treats everyone alike."

Why anyone who treats everyone alike should be lauded is something that puzzles me. But there does seem to be a widespread belief that to treat everyone the same is a virtuous trait that elevates the holder high above his fellowmen.

It always seemed to me, however, that characters who boast—or have their friends boast for them—that they treat everyone alike should be more watched than praised. Fortunately, there are actually few persons who treat everyone alike or even attempt to do it.

Let's take one of those flaming tempered lads that gets up mad at the world, as an example. He starts out by clobbering his ever loving wife, clipping junior, wallop-ing his darling daughter and kicking the family pooch over into the next lot. Now if he treats everyone alike he'll do the same by his boss and fellow workers, including the blondes, brunettes and red-heads who work in his office.

Or, suppose he is one of those happy, affectionate souls. He kisses his wife goodbye, likewise the lady next door, and the one next door to the one next door and the one next door to the one next door and so on down the block. That would be treating them all alike but you can see that it could lead to complications, words or even lumps on the head.

Under ordinary circumstances a person who attempted to treat everyone alike would eventually wind up surrounded by men in white coats but there are exceptions. Some get away with it, from time to time.

My Grandfather Henderson once told me of such a man, the operator of a grist mill in Kentucky, where the farming people brought corn or wheat to be ground into meal or flour. Money was a scarce commodity in those days. Barter and exchange of services was the rule. Occasionally millers received money for their services but in most instances they took their pay in grain which they extracted from the bags brought in from the farms. This process was known as tolling the sacks, or tolling the pokes, as bags are still called in some sections today.

My grandfather said that one day this miller in his neighborhood, was looking over the sacks of grain that had been delivered for grinding.

He kicked one of the piles and turned to his darky who had most of the work to do. "Whose grist is this, Tom?" the miller wanted to know. "Hm," Tom answered looking at the stack of bulging bags, "why that grist belong to Marse Ben Thompson."

"Thompson, eh. Have you tolled it?"

"Yes sah, Ise tolled hit." "Well, toll it again! He's rich, he can stand it."

The miller approached a smaller pile, and kicked the bottom bag. "Tom," he called. "Whose grist is this?"

"Why sah, that belong to Marse Billy Moon."

"Have you tolled it?" the miller wanted to know. "Yes sah, Ise tolled hit." "Well toll it again! He's poor, dadburn him, we'll keep him poor."

Zion Lutheran Church is Scene Of Juergens-Popolski Wedding

Before the tolling of the church bells announcing the wedding of Lucille Juergens and Donald Popolski, the assembled guests were privileged to enjoy a half hour of organ music featuring the old and familiar love songs by Mrs. Randolph Hahn.

The day dreaming motorist is a danger not only to himself but to other drivers on the streets or highways, says the Chicago Motor club. If you find yourself day dreaming behind the wheel, you'll find it a lot safer to pull off the road until you regain your alertness. An essential part of safe driving is the ability to keep your mind on the task at hand—operating an automobile.

Guiding Community Growth Main Task Before Plan Commissions

Growth of an area or town cannot be stopped, but it can be controlled and made to develop on the basis of the greatest good for the greatest number of people. Years ago there were extremely few professional city planners, and town after town grew with only the planning, if any, of amateurs trying to operate in a professional field.

Many magazines of nationwide circulation have recently been having articles on the serious problems that can arise thru lack of proper planning and the destruction of property values which is the inevitable penalty for such lack of proper planning. The Farm Journal, largest of the farm journals, had "Planning" as the lead article in its December issue and used McComb county of Illinois as an example of the need of planning and penalties for lack of planning.

Cities such as Joliet and Chicago are now paying a heavy price for lack of proper planning years ago. Real estate owners in the center of most big cities are especially hit and are fighting for their economic lives to save their valuations thru "renewal" plans which must have national, state and county aid to secure some revival. Whether even this will save the property values of areas surrounding the business sections will be known only after a considerable lapse of time.

The national government is now in process of appropriating $2½ billion for what they call "urban renewal." These appropriations will be needed for many years and likely to grow much larger to try and save something from the wreck that has resulted from improper planning.

Proper planning is of as much value to the farmer as to the resident of the village involved. School costs and who bears the burden are a very real problem and this will increase as demands for educational levels increase — which they are certain to do in this age of science.

Below are a group of questions and answers to queries which have been most often made to members of the Mokena Plan Commission.

Q. Who formed the planning commission?

A. The Mokena plan commission was created by the president and board of trustees of the village.

Q. Do the members of the planning commission receive pay?

A. No. Members of the plan commission put in many hours of their time without pay.

Q. What is the commission's purpose?

A. The purpose of the plan commission is to prepare and recommend to the village board of trustees a comprehensive plan of public improvements, looking to the present and future development of the municipality. To give aid to the village board of trustees charged with the direction of projects for improvements embraced within the official plan, to further the making of these projects, and generally promote the realization of the official plan.

In addition, the plan commission is authorized to prepare and recommend to the corporate authorities a plan or plans for the development and re-development of the municipality and contiguous unincorporated territory not more than 1½ miles beyond the corporate limits of Mokena.

Q. I moved to Mokena because there was no industry and it was not likely that undesirables would come into the community. Taxes were low then so why must we bring in industry to help keep taxes down?

A. Mokena like other communities can expect and has increased in population and also there will be an increase in the demand for the services which must be provided by the Mokena village board; these services are becoming increasingly costly and must be financed by the community. If no industry develops in the area, then the financing must be done largely thru taxation of individual home owners. This means higher taxes, since each family will receive more services and more costly services from the community. Industry, on the other hand, provides a substantial amount of municipal income and demands relatively little in the form of municipal services. This is particularly apparent in the case of school taxes. Thus by increasing the industrial base of the municipality it is possible to realize the increased services with a minimum increase in individual taxation. Secondly, it is wrong to classify all industry as undesirable. Thru the work of the plan commission and with carefully developed land used plans and zoning ordinances, the community will attract only those industries which will reflect credit upon it.

Q. Will the commission bring industry into the community?

A. A plan commission cannot directly bring industry into the community but industry likes to locate in municipalities which have official plans. Industrial areas need to be protected from conflicting land uses just as residential areas need to avoid bi-section by commercial or industrial areas. Industry knows that this condition leads to better public relations and to an increased desirability of the area both for industry and residential use. Industry hesitates to provide capital investment for locations without such protection. If the official plans provide for specific industrial areas and also provides a measure of assurance that these areas will be confined for special levels of industry, the community will definitely be more attractive for industrial development.

Q. Can we keep industry out of Mokena if there is no planning commission?

A. The answer is no. Without proper control and zoning, desirable industry will not locate in the Mokena area. However, without control, undesirable businesses and industry will move in, such as auto graveyards, trailer camps and the like. Farmers should be the strongest advocates of zoning control because rural areas too often amount to a welcome mat for undesirable business ventures.

Motor Club Asks Car Owners to Help in Fighting Tax Raiders

The Chicago Motor club has called on its Illinois members to write or wire their legislators to oppose the use of motorists' taxes to subsidize the Chicago Transit Authority or for any other non-highway purpose.

In the May issue of Motor News, mailed to members, J. J. Cavanagh, motor club president, said:

"I urge each of you in Illinois to point out to your state senator and the three representatives of your district that it would be unjust discrimination against the motorist to tax gasoline as a means of subsidizing the Chicago Transit Authority or any other public transit line.

"Why do we ask you to do this? For these reasons:

"1. The motorist's money—your money—has paid for building and maintaining our roads. Use of the gasoline tax for any non-highway purposes would divert money from the state's highway fund, no matter how you look at it.

"2. We oppose diversion of motorists' taxes because diversion inevitably will mean increased taxes. Once the door of diversion is opened, there would be no end to the raids on our highway funds — and this would mean a gas-tax increase to pay for our roads.

"3. The plight of the CTA is not a problem for the motorist as a motorist.

"4. We ask you to ask your legislators to oppose any gas tax increase — or diversion—because it is our responsibility ity to lead the opposition against any attempt to 'sock the motorist.'

"During the 1957 session of the Illinois General Assembly, the motor club led a successful campaign against attempted raids on motorists' taxes. With a few exceptions, our position had the unanimous support of our members.

"We are faced with the same situation now."

Cavanagh said the club considered proposals to divert gas tax money for the use of "common carriers one of the most unrealistic and unjust proposals ever submitted to the Illinois legislature," adding:

"It should not be necessary, in voicing opposition to this injustice, to assert that the Chicago Motor club as a civic organization is aware that adequate transportation for all is essential."

But, he said, "It is as ludicrous to tax car owners for public transportation as it would be to tax all subscribers to newspapers for the same purpose."

Must Register For Selective Service at 18

All young men are required by law to register with Selective Service within five days after reaching their 18th birthday. A youth failing to do so may be declared a delinquent and ordered for immediate induction into the army.

This warning was issued today by Charles H. Wolf, chairman of Cook County Local Board No. 112.

Wolf pointed out that the obligation to register applies not only to citizens of the U.S. but also to aliens, except a few exempt by law. Aliens not exempt must register within six months after entering the U. S. Men discharged from the armed forces must register within 30 days after discharge unless they registered previously.

A man may register at any Selective Service local board, Wolf said. The L. B. No. 112 Cook County board is located at 15418 Broadway, Harvey. If away from home a man may register at the nearest local board anywhere in the U.S.

The Chicago Motor club points out that a driver can't be looking very far ahead when he rides the bumper of the other fellow's car. Always allow a safe distance between your car and the car ahead.

4 One-Act Plays to Be Given at Sandburg May 22

Stimulating competition will be featured when the members of the speech classes at Carl Sandburg high school present four one act plays at the school, 133rd and LaGrange road in Orland Park, on May 22, at 8:00 p.m. Mrs. Edward Klocke and Mrs. Robert Renie are directing the classes in this project which they have undertaken to give the students experience in all phases of play production. The plays have been completely produced by the individual classes. Suitable for the entire family, the Spring Festival will be presented without charge.

"Ring in the Groom," a one act comedy by A. A. O'Keefe, takes place in a typical small town with anything but typical results. Beverly Boardman plays Grandmother Harrison; Christine Kozel, the role of Bertha; Pat Bailey, the role of Ruth Hibbard; Bob Sorenson, the role of the reckless son, Wilbur; Pat Moroney, the role of Mildred; Marcia Moore the role of Aunt Ella; and Judy Warren, the part of Harriet.

"Food," a tragedy in one act written by William C. deMille, peers into the future when there is such a shortage of food that "living high" consists of having a dinner of a cracker and two drops of milk. The play, directed by Sam Smith, features Carol Schneid, Jan Gabriel, and Dave Gonzales.

Prof. Delwyn C. Coats, who remains the great authority on the young female of the human species, again prepares his famous lecture, "What's Wrong with the Girls," a one-act comedy by Conrad Seiler. The professor, played by Mike Fundator, being a truthful man and a scientist, finds many faults. Cathy Tolliver, as Miss Hazel Duckworth, does not agree with the professor and she tells the audience what's wrong with the male species. The director is Ron Bergman, and the cast includes: James Kennelly as The Chairman, Jim Vos as the First Actor, Karen Tobias as the First Actress, Jerry Gorman as the Second Actor and Nancy Flint as the Second Actress.

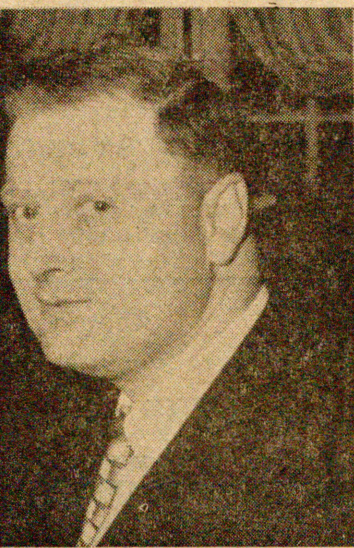

"The Wonder Hat," by Kenneth Sawyer Goodman and Ben Hecht, is a fantasy showing to what extremes two people will go to display their affections for one another.

This involves a magic charm which brings them together, making a charming and light comedy. The cast includes Curt Lang as Harlequin, an egotistical young gentleman; John Ballou as Pierrot, a man of the world; Jim Hughes as the persuasive peddler, Punchinello; Mickey Lucas as the beautiful and alluring Columbine; Nancy Bendix as Margot, the sarcastic and illiterate maid and close friends of Columbine.

The speech classes will be competing with each other. Come and support your choice of plays at the spring festival.

AT A MEETING two weeks ago in the Blackstone hotel in Chicago, F. G. Novick, field manager with IBM corporation and four of his co-workers received a $5,000 award for an idea they had submitted jointly. The suggestion was for an improvement on the IBM 83, a high speed sorting machine.

Novick, his wife and four children, reside at 6537 West 167th st., Tinley Park.

Among those present from this area were Mr. and Mrs. Lambrecht, Mrs. Margaret M. Semmler, Mrs. Clida Deadmore and Mrs. Homer McCutchen and daughter Barbara of Tinley Park.

An added pleasure was accorded the last four who remained overnight in the Hamilton hotel and were met in the morning by Mr. McCutchen and together they attended services Sunday morning in the Fourth Presbyterian church, where the McCutchens formerly attended. Later they enjoyed dinner in a Chinatown restaurant.

The Chicago Motor club reminds drivers that pleasant spring weather means increased play activity in school zones. Motorists driving near schools or playgrounds should be constantly alert for the child who may have forgotten his safety lessons. Always reduce your speed when driving in residential areas.

Make Aerial War on Skeeters

Residents of South Cook county who have seen a small yellow airplane flying quite low need not be alarmed. The pilot is not in difficulty—he is treating bodies of water where mosquito larvae have been found.

This week makes the opening gun of the 1959 mosquito season that will continue to about mid October. According to W. J. Buchanan, manager of the South Cook District, the airplane is a specially designed low wing craft manned by a licensed pilot highly skilled and experienced in such work. Buchanan says that residents need have no fear of danger to themselves, pets or livestock from the insecticides used for this work. Diluted insecticides are applied at low rates only to bodies of water where the mosquito wigglers are found and the airplane treats only those places where the District's ground equipment cannot travel at this time of the year or that are too large to be covered by ground equipment.

Unseasonal warm weather following rains during the past week has resulted in a heavy production of wigglers in the field pools, swamps and cattail marshes. According to Buchanan, unless these wigglers are destroyed within the next few days they will emerge as adult mosquitoes within the next two or three weeks.

Classes are held at the village hall in Palos Park at 89th and McCarthy road every Monday afternoon from 1:00 until 3 p.m. Registrations may be obtained by calling Garden 4-8100.

Business and Finance

By MAURICE P. ANGLAND
It has become popular to state that the small investor has become a wild speculator in stocks and some glaring examples are given. The most casual of inspection of these examples, reveals they are isolated instances in many cases and not typical.

Some political figures are demanding that the nations brokers be more careful in what is sold to the public as an investment or if you will—speculation. It is suspected that their objective is to reach the headlines rather than correction of a general situation.

The "odd lot" buyer is pictured as being an innocent bird waiting to be plucked. In explanation the "odd lot" buyer is the buyer of less than 100 shares of a given stock and presumed to be a small buyer.

It should be remembered that although many large investors now buy and hold mutual funds because of their record of success over the years, it is the small investors in large numbers who own the bulk of these funds. The mutual funds permit small investor to invest monthly in a cross section of the leading firms of the nation. They are under the investment control of professional investment men aided by well equipped research organizations.

Investment changes by these funds must be published regularly. Many large investors watch these investment changes closely for ideas as to their own investments.

Next we have the "small investor" as beneficiary of the large pension funds and profit sharing funds. More and more these funds are being put into the hands of the professional investment control similar to the mutual funds.

The mutual funds, pension and profit sharing funds have proven much smarter investors than many of the old time professionals who had little respect for the scientific approach to investments. They bought and sold on market patterns of prices alone. There formerly was an old and hallowed cliché that the small investor was always, as a group, wrong. Many old time professional speculators have found the present period of "full information" finds many small investors who, when given facts, are well able to take care of themselves.

All investment firms are regulated by the various states as well as the Securities & Exchange Commission. In addition a powerful regulatory body for self regulation, is the National Association of Securities Dealers. Most investment houses will not do business with another investment firm that is not a member of this organization. The NASD has strict rules of ethical practices which are strictly enforced. All of these organizations make periodic audits of investment firms as to the type of business they are doing.

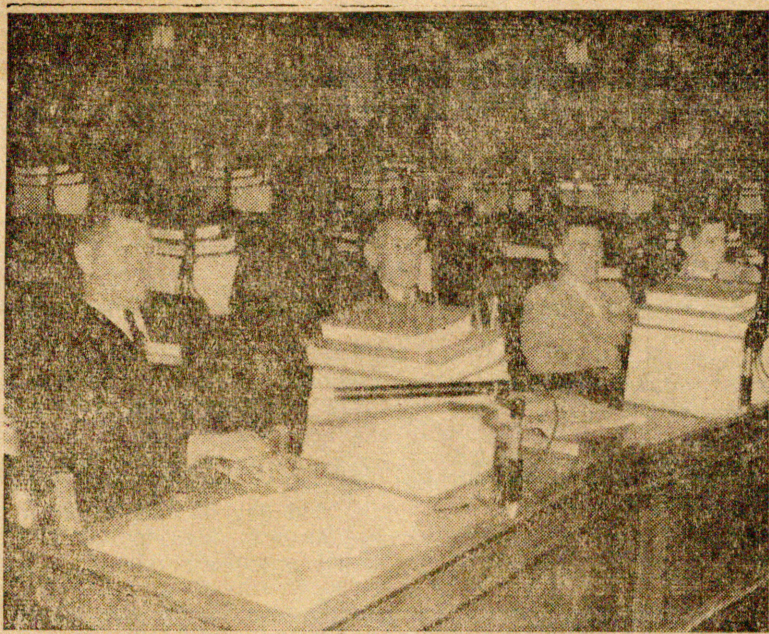

The general standard of education of the average investor today, is higher than it was some years ago. He has much more complete information available and background to understand or get it explained.

Most brokers are wary of the investor of small means who wants to buy highly speculative stocks. The man offering a "sure thing" by phone from Canada, etc., will quickly hang up if advised you are going to check with your broker.

The investor has learned to protect his "purchasing power" and common stocks of better grade are his choice over bonds.

Elect L-W Boy State Officer of Industrial Club

Alan Waldvogel, 15 year old sophomore from Lincoln-Way Community high school, was elected the vice president of District 4 in the State of Illinois Industrial Education club at Springfield last Saturday.

Allen is the second L-W student to hold a state office in this growing organization. Waldvogel won in a landslide at the IIEC's annual state convention.

Joe Kruzich, Lincoln-Way faculty advisor, said that Allen was one of the youngest students ever to be elected to this office. There were nine members of the Lincoln-Way IIEC present at the convention. 350 members of the state organization were in attendance at the state capitol building where all sessions were held in the house chamber.

Even on the nicest days, it's the safe driver who remembers to use common sense and courtesy behind the wheel.
